Inclusive Learning & Living Seminar

12 August 2023, Cape Town

The seminar focuses on the importance of centering disabled voices and lived experiences. The seminar will feature a range of speakers with expertise in disability inclusion and education. Attendees will have the opportunity to ask questions and engage in meaningful dialogue about the latest topics in this area.

We are inviting parents, educators, disabled people and medical professionals.

The seminar is free of charge and we will be serving a packed lunch. Registration begins at 8.30 AM on the day of the event.

Seminar speakers:

Dr. Victoria Graf

Victoria L. Graf, Ph.D., Professor Emerita, is the former Academic Program Director for the Special Education Program at Loyola Marymount University where she served as a professor preparing educators to work with students with disabilities and supporting inclusive education in general education for over 40 years.

Dr. Shawna Draxton,

Dr. Draxton has worked in education for over 25 years in both district and charter-operated programs. She is well-versed in creating effective, student-centered, and teacher-supported macro systems within TK-12 educational settings. Dr. Draxton is dedicated to designing and maintaining innovative and data-informed instructional experiences grounded in social and emotional responsiveness that achieve excellence for all students.

Kristin Wright

Kristin Wright is the Executive Director of Equity, Prevention, and Intervention at the Sacramento County Office of Education.

Wright leads a department focused on diversity, equity, and inclusion, including students with disabilities. She is leading a new statewide initiative “California Includes” focused on empowering teachers, parents and the greater community with tools and resources designed to increase inclusivity and belonging for students with disabilities.

Chaeli Mycroft

Chaeli Mycroft graduated in 2015 with majors in Politics and Social Development and in 2016 gained her Honours degree in Social Policy and Management. She completed an MPhil degree in Human Rights Law in 2019. Chaeli is an internationally recognised disability rights activist, adaptive athlete and an author.

Violet Wright

Violet Wright is a rising senior at Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles, California. Studying political science and bioethics, Violet is interested in the restructuring of political systems for more equitable outcomes — particularly, for people with disabilities. With experience in the California legislature, lobbying sector, and electoral arena.

We will also hear from other members of the disabled community.
